Current Priorities

- Exhibit Planning: The Historic Fire Tower Exhibit is a collaborative project involving the museum, the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (DCNR), and the Lumber Heritage Region of Pennsylvania (LHR); restoration of the top 30 feet of the DCNR fire tower that once stood on Sideling Hill within Buchanan State Forest; prepare supporting signage and exhibits.
- Site Accessibility Study: Do an accessibility study of the site's 19 exhibit buildings spread across a 10-acre campus, with more than 100-ft of elevation change between the lowest and highest exhibits; conduct a comprehensive study to examine how individuals with a mobility impairment can better access and navigate the site.
- Exhibit Plan and Signage: Standardization of signage and update exhibits reflect the current interpretive standards and to streamline years of updates into a standard look and interpretation style.

Signature Events

- Bark Peelers' Festival: Signature event honoring lumber workers and their skills through demonstrations, competitions, food, music, crafts, and activities for kids typically draws 3,000 or more in July.
- Woodhick Day for Schools: Event in fall and spring for public, private, and homeschool groups to explore lumber history and modern forest management typically draws 350 to 400 students.
- Spooky Lantern Tours: An October event providing a safe and educational trick-or-treat experience in a rural area, with stories in the logging camp and craft activities in the visitor center, that drew over 520 people.
