Introduction – Please Read this Section First

This research guide has been developed to assist researchers in locating government records, manuscripts, maps, and photographs housed at the Pennsylvania State Archives pertaining directly to the United States Civil War of 1861 to 1865. Materials were selected for inclusion in this guide based on their applicability to furthering an understanding of the Civil War in relation to Pennsylvania and U.S. history. Manuscripts and government records dated 1861 to 1865 that do not directly relate to the economic, social, or military aspects of the Civil War were not included; therefore, additional finding aids may need to be consulted for other research topics such as: industry, banking, agriculture, etc. Items dated post-1865 are included when appropriate. For example, the “Gettysburg Reunions” section is composed of records and manuscripts produced exclusively after the war. Items related to the “Reconstruction” of the South have been omitted.

Materials are listed by the subject categories referenced in the table of contents on page two. Additional items that did not fit neatly into a specific category are listed within the “Miscellaneous” section. The “Battles/Campaigns” section is organized around specific battles, listed alphabetically. The “Diaries and Letters” section is alphabetized by the author’s last name when known; anonymous authors are listed last. The “Regiments and Other Units” section is organized sequentially by Regimental block number followed by miscellaneous units, militia, and U.S. Colored Troops. All other sections are organized by collection – either a Record Group, or a Manuscript Group.

Record Groups represent collections of official records maintained by a governmental unit or commission. They are abbreviated “RG.” For example, all records filed by the Pennsylvania Adjutant General’s Office are listed under “RG-19 – Records of the Department of Military and Veterans’ Affairs.” Following each item within a Record Group is a series number. Series are smaller file units within the Record Group that represent a single type of record or file. Usually, the series are maintained in their original order as they arrived from the governmental agency or unit. For example, if you are seeking the “Sales Agreements, 1861-1862” recorded by the Adjutant General’s Office, they would be found under “RG-19 {Series #19.71}”. When filling out a page slip to request these records, be sure to include the descriptive title of the record, the RG number, and the Series number.

Manuscript Groups are collections of documents, papers, photographs, maps, broadsides, diaries, and letters that were acquired from non-governmental groups or individuals. These Manuscript Groups, abbreviated “MG,” often relate to a single subject. For example, “MG-60 – Grand Army of the Republic Collection, 1865-1936” is devoted entirely to records and papers of the Pennsylvania Grand Army of the Republic. Other Manuscript Groups contain documents that relate to many different topics, such as “MG-7 – Military Manuscripts Collection, 1758-1931.” For some Manuscript Groups, the folders were numbered to aid in locating the correct documents. In this research guide, folder numbers appear after the Manuscript Group number. For example, if you are seeking the “Newspaper clipping about the Battle of Cedar Creek, no date {MG-7-0104},” you would find the item in Manuscript Group 7, folder 0104. When filling out a page slip to request manuscripts, be sure to include the descriptive title of the Manuscript Group, the MG number, and the folder number when appropriate.

Digitized microfilm is available for some records and manuscripts. When available, the original records are not accessible except under special circumstances. You can locate digitized microfilm in the Archives’ Search Room Self Service Area. In some instances, a large series of digitized microfilm may exist. For example, the “Register of Pennsylvania Volunteers, 1861-1865 {RG-19-Series #19.65}” can be found on Digitized Rolls 508-522. If you are seeking records of the 101st Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, you should refer only to Digitized Roll 514, containing the records of the 101st Regiment PV.

The Reference Archivist in the reading room can help you identify specific records and manuscripts housed in our facility.

Regiments and other Units

This section contains holdings related to all Pennsylvania units including those organized within the block of regimental numbers established by the state, #1 to #215 as well as other units outside the block. Included in the block were infantry, cavalry, artillery, reserves, “Bucktails,” and drafted militia. Each infantry and drafted militia regiment carried only one number, the one assigned to it within the block sequence. However, the cavalry, artillery, reserves and “Bucktails” each carried a second, more commonly used number, namely the number within a sequence appropriate purely for its arm or type of unit. For example, since 44 was the first number used for organizing a cavalry unit, the regiment, more commonly identified as the 1st Pennsylvania Cavalry, was identified as the 44th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers.

The listings in this section also include sub-sections of independent batteries and companies organized outside the 215 block numbers, emergency militia units, and U.S. Colored Troops organized within Pennsylvania. Records relating to United States units can be found at the National Archives.

Please use this chart below to cross-reference these units’ block numbers:
